

Eric Wiebes joins McKinsey & Company

January 20, 2022

McKinsey & Company welcomes Eric Wiebes. As a partner of the firm Eric will focus on serving private sector clients and he will strengthen our global sustainability offering.

Eric will help the firm serve clients internationally to accelerate their decarbonisation in an economically responsible manner. He brings extensive knowledge on a range of sustainability, climate change and energy transition topics from his professional experience in the past decades including his longstanding consulting experience.

Eric left the Dutch government one year ago. In line with McKinsey's strict business appointment rules, Eric will not participate in any Dutch or European public sector work or interact with institutions or companies he dealt with during his time in government for a further period of 12 months. This approach also exceeds the Dutch official post-ministerial guidelines.

The firm looks forward to working with Eric.
